

SDG 17.2.2

ARRANGING CONFERENCES AND RELATIONS WITH NGOs

Samarkand State University plays a significant role in cross-sectoral dialogues by arranging conferences and symposiums at the university as well as collaborative works. In addition, a conference was held to discuss cultural roots and exchange between Asia and Eurasia during medieval period entitled as "Ancient and medieval culture of the Asian part of Eurasia".

This conference was aimed to establish an inclusive information which can be further transferred among new generations.

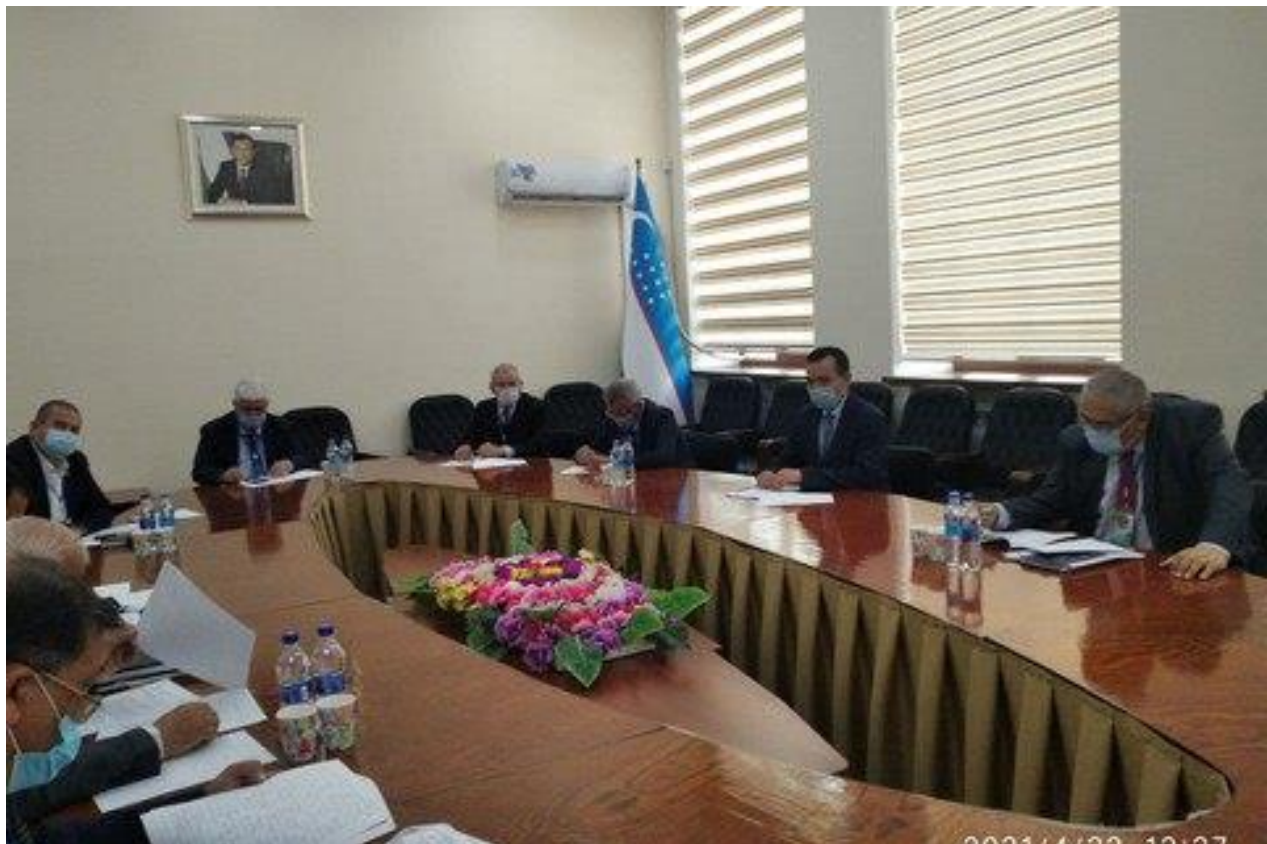

Many foreign academicians have participated in the conference and put forward their opinions about the necessity of such conferences for the betterment of intercultural relations.

The university is establishing mutual relations with different international universities to achieve its promises to sustainable development goals through partnerships and joint research programs.

In order to establish the coordination, on April 22, 2021, an online scientific and practical seminar was held on the topic "The role of Uzbekistan and China in the history of inter-civilizational dialogue at the crossroads of the Great Silk Road".

It was attended by a group of professors, teachers and students led by Professor Li Qi from Shaanxi Normal University, China and Vice-Rector for international relations Mukhtar Nosirov, associate professor B. Ergashev, basic doctoral student N. Khushvaktov and others.

Under cooperation program, an international scientific-practical conference on the topic of "Critical problems of ecology and nature use" was launched at Samarkand State University. Professors and teachers of higher education institutions of Russia, Belarus, Lithuania, Kazakhstan took part in it online.

At the international scientific-practical conference, scientists, professors and production specialists discussed various issues such as ecology of populations, practical ecology, preservation of biodiversity, ecological safety and food quality, environmental education and sustainable development.

On the other hand, Samarkand State University extends its cooperation to the national government and non-government organizations in a proper way. In this connection, Samarkand State University's professors are participating in the Turon Academy of Sciences (Turon Academy of Sciences is a non-government and non-profit organization), Samarkand, Uzbekistan. University professors are proactively playing a key role in fulfilling the goals of Turon Academy of Sciences. Prof. Soleev Ahamdjon is Vice-Rector of Academic Affairs and also serves for Turon Academy of Sciences. Many other professors like Abdur Rashid Rayimovich, Professor, Zoology, Samarkand State University, Turaev Bakhodir Khotamovich, Professor, Economics, Samarkand State University and many other have also participated in the activities of Turon Academy of Sciences.
