

3.3.3

Does your university as a body share sports facilities with the local community, for instance with local schools or with the general public?

Samarkand State University shares sports facility and expertise with local school students for making them aware about health and significance of sports.

University has many indoor and outdoor sports facilities where students, staff, and teachers work out for making themselves fit. These facilities are run under the supervision of trainers.

